The Uruguay Round negotiations are still in progress.

In the negotiations on Services in the Uruguay Round, the frame-work agreement envisages an exchange of market access concessions among participating countries. Like other participants India has also made an initial and conditional offer on market access in services.

The sectors in which India has, made an offer are engineering services, computer-related services, research and development services, technical testing and analysis services, vaiue-added telecommunication services, construction of roads and bridges, hospital services, hotels and other lodging services, motion picture and video distribution services, travel agency and tour operator services and international freight transportation by air, apart from certain financial services.

In financial services, the offer covers marina freight insurance and reinsurance These areas of insurance are already open to foreign service providers and the intention is to commit ourselves to continued access at existing levels. The offer on insurance includes services auxiliary to insutanee operations, i.e. brokerage, risk management, survey and loss adjustment.

Improvements, if any, to our initial and conditional offer may be considered by the inclusion of some more areas of financial services like merchant banknig (limited to management of and participation in issues of securities, underwriting and placement as agents and provision of services related to such issues, loan syndication, corporate counselling and project appraisal and evaluation); financial consultancy services, factoring, venture capital, financial leasing and credit rating.
